THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESS. The Albany Evening Journal and other adical papers would convince the least knowing of their readers the real issue in the present political canvass is the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment. In seeking to make this appear they are either self-deceived or are wilfully trying to deceive others. The radical journals which represent the animus of the radical party, which speak for the real leaders of that party, scout the amendment as a "settlement." The New York Sen, which has ever been strongly for the Union and moderate in its expreon political party questions says:

on political party questions says:

"At first they only required the preservation of the Union; then they demanded freedom for the slaves; then they wanted certain guarantees for the protection of the freedmen, and so on until they reached the present point, when they require the South to confer the suffrage privilege upon the freedmen. It is somewhat doubtful what position they will next assume, but we shall not be greatly surprised to find them following the leadership of Wendell Phillips, in demanding the impeachment of President Johnson.
Phillips is the real leader of the Radical party, although he is usually a few months in advance of the main body. He was the first to cry out for emancipation; he was the first to demand suffrage for the freedmen; and now he is the first to declare in favor of imnow he is the first to declare in favor of im-peaching the President.

"Does any one suppose that the Radicals

peaching the President.
"Does any one suppose that the Radicals would be content, even if the Constitutional amendment were adopted by every Southern State? Is it supposed by any one that they would then be willing to accord representation to the Southern States? No; the party is necessarily aggressive. It must go on from one degree of radicalism to another, until it is stopped in the course, and then its end will come."

This view is sustained in the speeches of outspoken radicals and in their journals. The New York Independent of last week has another long article in this strain:

"We know personally every prominent member of Congress, and we know that the member of Congress, and we know that the leaders do not mean to admit the unadmitted States on the mere adoption of the amendment. Moreover, we know personally the leading radicals of the Republican party outside of Congress, and we know that they have no intention of making the amendment the final measure of admission. To say, therefore, as the national committee say, that on condition of adopting the say, that, on condition of adopting the amendment, as Tennessee adopted it, "the door stands invitingly open for the ten other States, is to make a promise to the ear to break it to the hope."

The Boston Commonwealth, a SUNNER

The Boston Commonwealth, a Sunner organ, says boldly;
"Supposing the President should insist that the southern States should adopt this amendment, as he insisted they should adopt that decreeing emancipation, or a repeal of their secession ordinance, or the abnegation of the rebel debt, and they should adopt his advice and ratify the amendment, does any same member of the party believe they would be admitted to Congress without further guarantees." Not in the present temper of the loyal heart, most assuredly—not if the dominant party understands what is to assure its permanence or to compass its defeat. In its permanence or to compass its defeat. In truth, there would be no more confidence that South Carolina and Louisiana would that South Carolina and Louisiana would then do justice and walk righteously than there is now. Other guarantees would be absolutely needed; and Congress, imperilled by the danger which environed it by the adoption of this amendment, would, as a political necessity, have at once to go further, and provide other safeguards of security and reace."

Resedule at the National Theatre. If the equinoctial storm should consent to adjourn to-day a brilliant audience may be expected at the National Theatre to-night to witness the first presentation of "Rosedale," a drama which charmed Mr. WALLACK's audiences in New York for weeks upon weeks. The public have already learned that Messrs. Spalding & Rapley have set at work the finest artists in the country; and in ward-robe, properties, and every needed accessory did piece of Rosedale will absolutely lack nothing. We likewise expect to see brilliant acting, and intend to be on hand for that purpose at the theatre this Regulations for the Weighing and Marking of Cotton.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, has just issued additional regulations concerning the weighing and marking of cotton, in which he states that since the publication of former regulations on that subject it has been determined to provide a metallic tag to be used by the Assessor, or under his oversight, at the time cotton is first weighed in place of the "tax paid" tag a metallic tag to be used by the Assessor, or under his oversight, at the time cotton is first weighed, in place of the "tax paid" tag heretofore used, and also to appoint weighers of cotton in certain localities. Consequently the aforesaid regulations have been modified in several important particulars, to which the attention of assessors and collectors is directed. The appointments of weighers of cotton will be made under the authority conferred by section 8 of the act of July 13, 1866, upon the Secretary of the Treasury, who will appoint, on the recommendation of the assessors of the respective districts, suitable persons to weigh and mark cotton, at those designated places for weighing where the quantity of cotton and amount of labor may be so great that the assistant assessors located at such places cannot readily and promptly perform the work required.

POLITICAL.

ELECTIONS are to be held during October in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa on the 9th, and in West Virginia on the 25th. A full State ticket is to be voted for only in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the Governors in the other States, all Republicans, holding over until next year; but the fact that Ohio has nineteen Congressmen to elect, Pennsylvania twenty-four, Indiana eleven, and Iowa six, causes the elections in those States to be regarded with peculiar interest. In the present Congress Iowa is unanimously Republican, Ohio has two Democrats, Indiana has three, and Pennsylvania has eight, and the Democrats and Presidential supporters in those States are doing their best in every case to increase their party strength in the next Congress.
